Panto stars to switch on Xmas lights

NINETIES pop starlet Michelle Gayle and former Gladiator Trojan – two of the stars of this year's Playhouse panto – will turn on this year's Christmas lights in Harlow town centre.

The ceremony, which takes place on November 16, will include a stunning fireworks display.

Michelle, pictured below, who also starred in BBC soap EastEnders from 1990-93, and Trojan will share the stage with council chairman Tony Hall and local celebrities.

The event will also see the launch of the town's first ever Shoppers' Guide, with 10,000 copies ready for distribution on the day.

The Broad Walk lights and Christmas tree will be switched on shortly after sundown following a "glow stick" parade which will wind its way through the town centre to Market Square at 4.15pm.

MUM'S DESPAIR

Son's killer could be freed in three months

A GRIEVING mother has criticised the justice system after a former amateur boxer who killed her son had his jail sentence slashed.

Colin Ansell (30) was jailed for six-and-a-half years in May after admitting to the manslaughter of Lee Clark (25), who suffered fatal head wounds during the attack at The

By LOUISE SASSOON, News Editor

Hides, Harlow, last year.

But this week the Court of Appeal reduced that to three-and-a-half years after ruling the sentencing judge had failed to make clear the precise basis on which Ansell was sentenced – and whether or not he accepted prosecution claims that Ansell had carried on the attack after Mr Clark hit the ground.

It means the father-of-two, who has previous convictions for violence, could be free in just three months.

Mr Clark's mother Tina said the family is devastated by the ruling and criticised the original judge for his lack of clarity.

"There are rights for the offender but there are no rights for the victims," she added. "Violence is rising and with a case like this what sort of message is that going to send out?"

"I have just had Lee's headstone laid and still haven't finished all the business I need to sort out and this man could be walking free before I get the chance. It doesn't seem right."

She said the justice system had let her down and she now intends to launch a campaign for a change in the law so sentences for guilty pleas cannot be the subject of an appeal.

Mr Clark died after he arrived at Ansell's home in The Hides to continue a fight with Ansell's friend with whom he had an altercation in the town centre earlier in the evening of April 15, 2007.

During the trial it was said Mr Clark had taken a swing at Ansell who in turn retaliated with two head punches which knocked Mr Clark to the floor. It was the impact of his head with the concrete that caused the injuries from which he died a week later in Romford's Queens Hospital.

Mr Justice Foskett, sitting with Lord Justice Richards and Judge Peter Jacobs, said on Tuesday that Ansell was rightly sentenced on the basis he struck two hard blows whose potentially catastrophic effect he should have known given his boxing expertise.

But he said if the sentencing judge had accepted the prosecution claims that Ansell continued the attack once Mr Clark had fallen, he should have first given Ansell an opportunity to refute them.

Family surprised by huge response to the death of Christopher

THE family of a trainee teacher who died suddenly at the age of 25 have paid tribute as they prepare to lay him to rest tomorrow (Friday).

Christopher Ball, known affectionately as 'Cuddles', died as the result of a blood clot last Monday.

The former Mark Hall student and much-loved Harlow rugby player had recently moved to Gloucester to pursue his career and was living with his girlfriend.

His sister Liz, of Felmongers, said the entire family thanked everybody for their messages of sympathy and support and said although she, her mother Judith, father Ron and brother Graham knew how well Chris was liked, the sheer volume of condolences had been surprising. "He was a wonderful son and brother," she added.

A Facebook group set up in his memory has been inundated with memorial messages, as has a page created on the website of Harlow Rugby Club, for which he played as a prop forward.

One message from university friend Andy Pugsley reads: "What a guy, one of the funniest human beings that you could ever meet! While another, written by Lyndsey Titchener, said: "Ballhead, you will be sadly missed!! You made many people smile and made them who they are today!"

Mr Ball had also been a member of the 12th Harlow Scouts and Equinox Venture Scouts, leaving when he went to study leisure and tourism at Gloucester University. However, he stayed involved with the movement, helping as a volunteer in a children's project.

His funeral will take place tomorrow at 2.15pm in St Mary's and St Hugh's Church, in Churchgate Street, Harlow.

Mourners are asked not to wear black and instead of flowers to make donations – which will be shared between The Scouts Association, Royal National Lifeboat Institution and The Wooden Spoon Society – directly to Daniel Robinson & Sons or Harlow Rugby Club.

Cut speed to prevent a tragedy

ANGRY villagers fear a road could become an accident blackspot because county transport chiefs refuse to cut the speed limit.

Roydon Residents' Association claims cars approaching on Harlow

By CHRIS MOSS
moss@hertsexnews.co.uk

Road often travel at up to 80mph, resulting in scores of accidents during recent years.

Although there has yet to be a fatality, the group believes it is only a matter of time before someone is killed and last year sent Essex County Council a petition of more than 800 people calling for the 60mph limit to be halved.

Now it is launching a fresh campaign with the backing of Harlow Conservative prospective Parliamentary candidate and Roydon resident Robert Halfon to put further pressure on County Hall.

Association vice-chairwoman Lucy Cooper (61) – whose son Paul (21) was seriously injured in an accident on the road in 2004 – said it was time for transport chiefs to listen.

"It seems as though the county council is waiting for someone to be killed before they even consider reducing the speed limit," she said.

"The speed some cars come around the corner is frightening ... there are 20 homes and a farm with lots of slow-moving traffic coming and going along that stretch of road. It's incredibly dangerous."

Mr Halfon added: "As well as helping to organise a fresh petition, I will be inviting county councillor Norman Hume to visit the village to see the problems for himself and hopefully lend his support to the campaign."

But county council spokesman claimed the authority had already extended the 30mph speed limit either side of the village to its maximum possible extent last year.

"There have been no serious accidents or collisions within a kilometre of the boundary of Roydon on either Epping Road or Harlow Road in the past three years," he added.

Kerry murder trial date

TWO teenagers accused of murdering 24-year-old Kerry Youngs in an arson attack in Harlow three years ago are due to stand trial in April.

A High Court judge sitting at Chelmsford Crown Court on Monday set April 21 as the start date for the trial which is expected to last five weeks.

The pair, who come from Harlow but cannot be named for legal reasons, are accused of murder, causing grievous bodily harm with intent and arson with intent to endanger life. They were remanded in custody.

Three other defendants – Deja

George (39), from Harlow, William Clydesdale (37), from Woodford Green, and a 15-year-old – are charged with conspiring to pervert the course of justice.

No pleas have been entered yet and a further preliminary hearing is scheduled for March 16.

Miss Youngs' boyfriend Kevin Chapple, 27 at the time, was rescued from the fire but has been left with severe brain damage.

Miss Youngs and Mr Chapple were in their Sherwood House flat, in Bush Fair, on May 4, 2005, when the empty ground floor flat directly below was set ablaze.

Council not at fault

SIR, Last year I retired from working with homeless people at Harlow Accommodation Project but still have a great empathy for them and their situation.

I read your article regarding the predicament of Mr Ernie Wright and his three children (Star, October 30). Whilst I believe that everyone is entitled to a settled and safe place to live, especially children, I have to agree with the council that Mr Wright, through giving up his council property for whatever reason, is now classed as intentionally homeless and therefore they do not have a duty to rehouse him and his family.

Under some circumstances, the council would have a duty to place the family in temporary accommodation whilst their case is investigated, and I am sure this has been looked into, but in the meantime I would suggest that Mr Wright contact Streets2Homes, in Wych Elm. Streets2Homes is a homelessness charity that came about when The Homeless Drop-In Centre was amalgamated with Harlow Accommodation Project (HAP).

HAP's remit was to assist non-priority homeless people to access private accommodation. Mr Wright, due to the intentionality decision, would be deemed to be non-priority. While I am not entirely sure what the remit of Streets2Homes is, I would suggest this as another avenue that Mr Wright and other people in the same situation should investigate.

I wish the family success in finding a new home.

Thanks for support

SIR, May I thank Carl White (Letters, October 23) for his support for my role at the Town Show in promoting Harlow and thanking the individuals, organisations and businesses that contribute so much to Harlow's welfare and prosperity, as well as letting chairman, mayors and dignitaries from across Essex know just what Harlow has to offer and the changes we are making to improve life for residents and conditions for visitors and business.

Of course, I have to watch how I spend my meagre budget, which is a lot less than most other Essex mayors and chairmen have, and I do stipulate that what is spent should go into the local economy.

I also thank Mr White for his kind words in relation to my chairman's charity, Child Victims of Crime. The golf day was a success, raising £750 thanks to those who generously entered teams and took part in the raffle or sponsored the event. We did approach Canons Brook Golf Club in the first instance, but they were unable to accommodate us, so Nazeing Golf Club stepped in and I was grateful to them for what turned out to be a very well organised event.

Civic Centre, Harlow

Tracks of confusion

SIR, It's good to see Harlow's commitment to develop a comprehensive cycle track network but I fear that it is going to be spoilt by poor maintenance and policing. The track which runs round the roundabout at the junction of Third Avenue and Elizabeth Way, where it starts near GSK's main gate, is badly overgrown; this forces cyclists to ride on to the pedestrian lane. The track is divided by a white line with cyclists on the fence side and pedestrians on the curb side, but where Elizabeth Way starts suddenly it changes to pedestrians on the fence side and cyclists on the curb side - strange and confusing.

The new track then runs down Elizabeth Way and past the cricket fields, where dog walkers are parking on the track, astride both lanes, causing an obstruction - motorists moan about cyclists on the road, yet park on cycle tracks.

Cynical Lib Dems step to the right

SIR, Lorna Spencely's ill-informed diatribe against me (Letters, October 23) says far more about the cynical repositioning of the Lib Dems on the right of the political spectrum than it does about me or Harlow.

For the record, my first priority as an MP always has been, and remains, Harlow. But being in Government at a senior level gives me more influence to advocate and deliver of behalf of people in Harlow.

Secondly, instead of peddling false and unjustified Daily Mail smears, Lorna might do well to focus on the facts. Instead of doing nothing when presented with information by the International Red Cross about Abu Ghraib, I acted immediately to convene an emergency meeting at the Foreign Office to question officials. I was assured that defence ministers were already aware of the allegations and that actions were being taken by the Ministry of Defence to deal with the allegations, which was the case. And if Lorna had kept up to speed with her reading of the Daily Mail, she would have known that Peter Osborne, who initiated this unjustified attack on me, withdrew his criticism the following week saying that: "I now accept... that Rammell behaved in a better light than I had suggested."

As for the Chagos islanders, Lorna fails to point out that the Law Lords recently ruled in favour of the Government.

However, at all times I and other Government ministers have made clear our regret at the way the resettlement of the Chagossians was carried out in the 1960s and 1970s and at the hardship that followed for some of them. That is why we financially compensated the Chagossians.

But I don't believe the facts on these issues are what motivated Lorna's letter. It's simply part of the nationally directed Lib Dem strategy to try and out-Tory the Tories.

Impatient patients

SIR, I wish to say a big thank you to all doctors, students and nurses on Harvey Ward at Princess Alexandra Hospital.

During my stay, there was never reason to complain at the service or level of care. We often hear of negative hospital experiences therefore I believe it is important to acknowledge their recent high standards and to raise awareness of the treatment they have to endure at the hands of patients and visitors.

While in hospital, I saw nurses reduced to tears by the rude and belligerent way patients treat them. Some patients consider it acceptable to subject nurses to a tirade of abuse simply because they are not attended to the instant they activate the communication bell. At other times they harassed nurses and reduced them to tears because of minor issues relevant to the catering service, such as their food not being warm enough, insufficient milk in coffees or being provided with plastic cups instead of porcelain due to risks associated with their condition.

There were 32 patients on my ward and most nights only three to four nurses on duty. Despite obvious understaffing, the nurses performed admirably. What causes me concern is that despite being understaffed and under great pressure, it is the patients' selfish behaviour that is putting patients' lives at risk.

When medication is being administered on the ward the nurse wears a high visibility vest with the words "Nurse dispensing medicine - do not interrupt". Despite this and the risks associated with this essential task, the nurse is continually interrupted and harassed mid-task by patients who believe it their right to put others at risk as they simply cannot wait for hair shampoo or a newspaper. I counted nine such trivial interruptions in just one drug round.

... and great care

SIR, We would like everyone to know about the fantastic treatment our family received whilst our father was in the High Dependency Unit at Princess Alexandra Hospital, Harlow. Our father Albert Douglas received the utmost care. He sadly died after a long operation and the care of the staff helped us throughout the whole sad experience. We are full of gratitude. People moan about hospitals but we could not fault them.

Pat King
Mayfield, Buckden, Cambridgeshire

SIR, We are writing to express our gratitude and appreciation to Princess Alexandra Hospital, in particular to consultant paediatrician Dr Zieden, Dolphin Ward and the CATS team.

Our son was recently admitted to PAH with a suspected anaphylactic reaction. He was diagnosed within a day by Dr Zieden, who recognised the symptoms of an extremely rare and serious skin disease. He arranged for him to be transported by the CATS team as an emergency to Great Ormond Street Hospital, where his condition was treated 24 hours a day for over a week in Intensive Care.

It was Dr Zieden's swift diagnosis which enabled the Intensive Care team at Great Ormond Street to stabilise the condition and limit its progression. It was a one in a million chance that he contacted this disease and the prompt action of Dr Zieden undoubtedly prevented the situation from having a different outcome.

Our son was treated quickly and brilliantly by the GOSH team and is now making a good recovery. Thank you very much PAH.

Station frustration

SIR, Is Harlow bus station run for the convenience of bus companies or for the convenience of passengers?

Giving the companies their own exclusive stands may suit them but consider someone who wants to catch the next bus to, say, The Phoenix, Potter Street or Epping. Under the old system - no problem! Go to stands 5-6 and wait.

Under the new system the next bus on this route can arrive at stands 1-7 or at stands 8-10 or out of sight behind the information office at the stands allocated for 'others'.

I don't care which bus I use. I just want to get home quickly. Others, equally in a hurry and perhaps hindered by children, shopping or a walking aid, shouldn't be made to run for a bus - or frustrated when one leaves from an out-of-sight stand. Think again, council!

Harlow cops top detection table

By LOUISE SASSOON, News Editor
sassooni@hertsessexnews.co.uk

HARLOW'S law enforcers were given a pat on the back this week after crime detection rates in Harlow were shown to be the best in Essex.

According to latest figures, more than two-thirds of offences committed in the town this year have been cleared up – the highest level on record and the best in the county.

Harlow MP Bill Rammell welcomed the news, as did Inspector Andy Bray who said the success was in part a result of the collaborative work police are doing with other agencies including Harlow Council.

He said there was a mistaken belief that there was more crime in Harlow than other places, adding: "We are battling this perception all the time."

"This is an excellent achievement. Harlow is a safe town in one of the safest counties and we are working to make it even safer."

Despite the achievement, Harlow is still some nine per cent short of the 50 per cent target set by Essex Chief Constable Roger Baker. Similar areas such as Basildon and Colchester are even further off the pace with detection rates of 35 per cent and 38 per cent, respectively.

Mr Rammell said he would monitor the figures to push for further improvements but said he applauded the work of the police.

"The fact that Harlow comes higher than every other district in Essex for detection is a real credit to our local police," he said. "All agencies need to continue to work together to retain these improvements."

He also said the Government had worked hard during the past 10 years to put more police officers into the local community to fight crime and anti-social behaviour and highlighted the new police office in Potter Street as an excellent example of what was being done.

Trial date set for man accused of OAP rape

A MAN accused of raping a 74-year-old woman in Harlow will stand trial in February.

Michael Cayode (22), of Moorfield, Harlow, appeared at Chelmsford Crown Court on Monday. He faces charges of rape, robbery, attempted robbery and sexually assault.

A further hearing will take place on November 13 but a provisional trial date has been set for February 2.

No plea was taken and Cayode was remanded in custody.

Crowds

THOUSANDS of people warmed to a break with tradition when they enjoyed an explosive early Bonfire Night on Sunday.

The change of date for this year's festivities – moved from November 5 to minimise disruption for Fifth Avenue residents – did little to dampen the party atmosphere in the Town Park.

The evening's entertainment kicked off with live music and some improvised comedy routines courtesy of Ten-17 FM's roadshow crew before Harlow Council chairman

Tony Hall lit the bonfire. Clutching candy floss and munching on toffee apples, the crowd then swapped the neon glow of a funfair to stand and watch as a fabulous fireworks display lit up the skies above them.

But even as the last of the rockets exploded in a technicolour triumph above the park, there was still more fun to be had with none other than former Big Brother housemate Stephanie McMichael providing entertainment on the stage in a bid to launch her pop career. Afterwards, Mr Hall told the Star: "As chairman of the council, this is one of the events you look forward to.

fired up for cracking show

"It was good to see so many families coming to the Town Park, which was literally packed with thousands of people.

"The fireworks were fantastic and really lit up the skies above the park. The event was another huge success, thanks to the hard work of council staff and the emergency services that were there to provide support.

"My thanks also to the staff and volunteers at Pets Corner who were on duty all evening. As a result, our animals were kept safe and occupied during the display."

A collection raised more than £388 for Mr Hall's chosen charity, Child Victims of Crime.

Return of one of Harlow's Upright citizens

ONE of Harlow's famous sculptures has returned after more than a year away.

Henry Moore's Upright Motive No. 2 was re-installed by an expert team from the Henry Moore Foundation at Water Gardens on Sunday.

The piece had been on display as part of a 28-sculpture Henry Moore exhibition at the Royal Botanical Gardens in Kew.

The sculpture, loaned by Harlow

Arts Trust to the foundation and then to Kew, used to stand at the bottom of the Water Gardens' car park but now takes pride of place near the Civic Centre entrance after it was decided to move it to a more prominent location.

Cutback fears of firefighters

COST-cutting measures hitting frontline fire and rescue services in Harlow could see emergency response times compromised and specialist vehicles decommissioned, according to concerned firefighters.

Essex Fire and Rescue has been told by the Government it must make £3.5m of savings by 2011, and fire crews fear this could mean making staff redundant and cutting specialist services.

Despite voicing their concerns to chiefs stationed at the service's new multi-million pound headquarters in Brentwood, firefighters say they have been given no assurances about the plans.

Proposals outlined in the service's new Integrated Risk Management Plan include redeploying specialist staff, improving crewing and attendance standards and changing contingency plans for unforeseen staff absences.

But the Fire Brigades' Union claims the plans lacked clarity and are too ambiguous – and it believes more specific cost-cutting proposals have already been decided behind closed-doors.

Essex FBU assistant secretary Paul Adams said: "All we need are some clear assurances ... that there will be no reduction in the current numbers of firefighters serving at fire stations ... that no full-size, fully crewed fire engines currently serving in our towns and villages will be replaced by smaller, under-equipped vehicles, and that there will be no reduction in the immediate response capability and provision of our high-reach and specialist rescue."

"If such clear and simple assurances prove too difficult to give, then the people of Essex and those of us in the service would have good reason to fear the worst."

One of the key specialist services allegedly facing the chop in Harlow is the aerial ladder platform, which has a specially trained 12-man crew and is manned around the clock.

Under the new plans, this crew would be redeployed elsewhere whenever it was not required, potentially meaning longer response times for specialist call-outs.

An Essex County Fire and Rescue Service spokesman said: "(We) will continue to engage with all stakeholders openly and transparently to ensure that our plans deliver the most effective service we can in terms of prevention, incident response and value to the community."

"We will continue to engage with all staff, including the FBU, as we seek innovative solutions for the delivery of our services. We would encourage people to read the IRMP rather than FBU statements."

Drug addict sold heroin to police

A HARLOW man has been jailed for 30 months after pleading guilty at Chelmsford Crown Court to supplying heroin to an undercover police officer.

However, the court was told Jordan French, of Hart Road, Harlow, remembered nothing of the incident, which happened during a police drugs crackdown in Braintree in May this year. Stephen Rose, prosecuting, told Thursday's hearing that French (25), who pleaded guilty to two charges of supplying drugs, and another man approached the detective in Braintree on May 28. Drugs were discussed and later French supplied the officer with two wraps of heroin.

However, the court was told by Emma Davenport, in mitigation, that although French accepted he had supplied the drug, he could not remember the incident.

She said French was himself a drug addict and was fighting to overcome the addiction, which she said had led to the incident for which he was prosecuted.

PAH planning new care unit for sick babies

By LOUISE SASSOON, News Editor
sassooni@hertsexnews.co.uk

INTENSIVE care provision for sick babies in Harlow is to be increased in a move which could see a new building created solely for the purpose.

Health chiefs want to expand the existing Neo-natal Intensive Care Unit at Princess Alexandra Hospital to deliver a bigger and better service while transforming the existing facility into a dedicated children's out-patients unit.

At present, the hospital only has 10 special care baby beds, four high dependency cots and two intensive care cots, meaning some babies who need specialist attention often have to be taken to other units to get the care they need.

Only a few months ago, the Star reported on the case of mum Cara Dedman and her partner who had to endure a 40-mile trip to a specialist care unit in Luton to see their premature baby following a shortage of cots at PAH.

While the exact scale of the development is not yet known, it is hoped the plans will solve some of the hospital's NICU provision issues and help it cope with increased birthing rates brought about by a population boom and changes to other services in the area.

Wendy Matthews, director of women's and children's services, said: "We are planning a capital new build for a state-of-the-art NICU in 2009. The old NICU will then be revamped into a dedicated paediatric outpatients. This is in line with the increase in births at PAH."

A hospital spokesman added it was looking to improve the service and was "extremely optimistic" the plans would come to fruition.

The hospital has recently invested £1m in improving its maternity department and hopes to continue to expand the service further to cope with demand.

Adam soldiers on to win recruit accolade

ARMY recruit Adam Vaughan proved he has what it takes to succeed by winning a top award.

After completing the tough 26-week combat infantryman's course at the Catterick training centre, the 21-year-old, of Halling Hill, Harlow, was voted Soldiers' Soldier by his Army pals.

Former Mark Hall School pupil Adam said: "Playing sports kept me relatively fit which helped during my Army training, with personal fitness playing an important role in the infantry. "Training at Catterick has been mentally and physically tough but well worth it. I have enjoyed every week, made some great friends and achieved things I never thought I could."

After some well-earned leave he will be posted to the 2nd Battalion The Rifles, which is preparing to deploy to Afghanistan. Platoon commander, captain Graeme Ker said: "Rifleman Vaughan is a tough and intelligent soldier who has worked hard for his friends to ensure they passed out together. "His fellow recruits voted him as their Soldiers' Soldier and that is a real accolade from his peers."

Shopping centre in spirit of Halloween

A FANG-TASTIC day was had by children and their parents when the Harvey Centre laid on Halloween high-jinks on the final day of the half-term holiday.

Almost 300 excited youngsters took part in Halloween-themed workshop where they combined frightening ideas and crafty skills to make some terrifying creations.

Later in the afternoon, families took part in the centre's supervised Safe Trick or Treating trail around participating stores.

Harvey Centre manager Bryan Young, said: "Kids love dressing up for Halloween so we've always been keen to organise events for the day.

"This year is the first time that we've run a safe trick or treating trail. We felt we have the perfect environment to organise such an event and the feedback certainly bore that out."

Honey Aimee's counting on votes

A HARLOW credit controller has become a High Street Honey in this year's modelling competition run by men's magazine FHM.

Aimee Luis (20) has been chosen from more than 9,000 entrants to appear in the publication's top 100 young women.

Aimee, who lives in Cheshunt and works in Harlow, was entered into the competition as a surprise by her boyfriend. The 'Honey' who receives the most reader votes will receive a huge amount of publicity as well as a TV presenting job.

"If I win that'd be my modelling career but I'm quite happy in my day job," said Aimee, who has 10 GCSEs.

She has already done modelling work for Zoo, Nuts and various bike magazines.

"I wouldn't have entered the competition myself and I'd completely forgotten that my boy-friend had put me forward for it," she said.

"It's every girl's dream to be a top model. I'm going to really push for votes; we're going to get T-shirts printed and everything."

A day when a skate time was had by all

AFTER a 20-year wait, the skateboarders of Harlow finally got to ride their long-awaited skatepark this year.

Three decades ago, the town's youngsters were celebrating the exact same thing when Harlow Council's first skatepark was opened.

The facility, called Ladyshot Skatepark, featured two half-pipes, ramps and a slalom marker and was open weekdays and Sunday mornings for the skating fraternity to enjoy under supervision.

Okay, so it was on a smaller scale than the 650sq m facility now located in First Avenue, which cost the council and Sport England £300,000, but it nevertheless got a great response from those who gathered for its opening in 1978.

The ceremony was attended by former council chairman John Moore who, as we sadly reported recently, died at the age of 77.

The Labour member was first elected to the council in a by-election at Little Parndon in 1959 and served in a variety of capacities, but here he is seen letting his hair down riding a skateboard and wearing a crash helmet.

By

The picture comes courtesy of local history officer David Devine and shows a rather uncomfortable-looking Mr Moore in the foreground putting his skating 'skills' to the test in front of a crowd of youngsters who look as though they are slightly more adjusted than he to gliding along on four wheels.

The day seemed to attract a great deal of excitement and made the front page of the August edition of the council's Harlow News magazine.

The report states the authority looked at numerous sites for the park before it eventually settled for the asphalted land which backed onto a cycle track at Burgoyne Hatch.

The park and land have since given way to houses and, unfortunately, little is known about it.

Do you have any memories of the skatepark or were you a skater pictured? If so, or if you have any other information regarding the facility, please write to us.

Stephen's time at Kingsmoor

ANOTHER trip down the Kingsmoor House memory lane, this time courtesy of The Museum of Harlow employee Stephen Leonard who kindly wrote in to share recollections of his time working there from 1984-2006.

"I worked there first on a work placement from college, then as a volunteer. I then became a council trainee before becoming a full member of staff," he writes.

"A lot of people have benefited from Kingsmoor House. In particular, a lot of people would not have been able to work if it had not been for Kingsmoor House."

"A lot of children have grown in confidence whilst being at Kingsmoor House and families of children with special needs have continually benefited from Kingsmoor House."

"A number of organisations have also used Kingsmoor House."

HEALTH PLAN VIEWS

The West Essex Health Authority's Strategic Plan for the future, which includes expanding hospital facilities for the district in Harlow, has met with mixed reaction by Harlow Council. Although welcoming aspects of the health authority's plan, the council is concerned that it is intended to reduce the number of beds at Princess Alexandra Hospital.

COUNCIL TO BUY HEALTH CENTRES

Harlow Council has won its fight to buy the town's six health centres from the Nuffield Trust. The £370,000 deal was confirmed on Friday after a council delegation met members of the trust in London.

Makeover for Tye-rd estates

By LOUISE SASSOON, News Editor
sassooll@hertsexnews.co.uk

WORK is under way on a £300,000 programme to spruce up some of Harlow's tired-looking estates.

The money is being pumped into three areas of Staple Tye by Harlow Council.

Aylets Field, Copshall Close and The Briars have been targeted following consultation with local residents to find out their priorities for the area.

As well as renewing the worst areas of paving, installing barriers to prevent motorcycle access and making good planters, workmen will be repainting council houses. The programme is scheduled to be completed by January.

The short-term improvements have come about after the areas were identified as being in need of regeneration last year and are being done in the interim while the council works with residents to identify priorities for the long-term future of the estates.

Joshua Jolles, chairman of the council's housing committee, got the programme off to a start in The Briars on Friday and said: "I am delighted to see that this work is going ahead at last."

He was joined by vice-chairman

Lee Dangerfield, councillor for the Staple Tye ward, who added: "The residents of Aylets Field, Copshall Close and The Briars have waited a long time for improvements.

"I look forward to the work being completed and the improvement it will bring to the lives of the residents. We will continue to work with and consult residents to identify their priorities for the future of the estates."

Taste for culture

STEWARDS: Students gave food for thought on a culinary tour of different cultures to raise awareness of diversity and create social harmony.

Hundreds of visitors descended on the Parnall Road school's third annual Cultural Food Event. National dishes from Ghana, Poland, Greece, Ireland, Zimbabwe, England, China, France, Turkey and others scented the air with herbs and spices.

A gospel choir and African dance group from the Efuia-Sey Koi Larby Cultural Academy entertained. There was also salsa dancing and a fashion show.

School's international recognition

BURNT MILL: Broadcast journalist George Alagiah focused on the story of high-achieving schools, including the First Avenue secondary, when he hosted a London awards bash.

The event highlighted international activity which goes on in the UK and saw Burnt Mill achieve an International School Award.

The accolade was started in 1999 to recognise schools leading the way in adding a global dimension to learning experiences.

Burnt Mill had been shown to be leading the way in the field through its range of international projects including links with Spain, France, Canada and, most recently, China.

Passmores passes test of quality

PASSMORES: Staff and pupils have been awarded top marks for their efforts in helping students of all abilities succeed.

The school was presented with an Inclusion Quality Mark certificate after an inspector from watchdog Ofsted visited the school during a two-day period and found it to be creating an all-embracing atmosphere in which everyone is valued.

The school is one of only 330 in the UK to attain the award.

Pupils excel at physical fitness

ST JAMES: Pupils at the Paringdon Road primary beat hundreds of others from across the country to win the Fitter Schools UK Challenge 2008.

St James' pupils recorded the highest level of improvement in overall fitness to win the primary school category of the challenge which is backed by Fit For Sport, David Lloyd Health Clubs and former England footballer Ian Wright.

During the 14-week task in which the children had to raise their activity levels, they were shown to have improved their fitness by 31 per cent. The average national improvement was 12.8 per cent.

Headteacher Emma Jane Wilkinson said: "Physical activity is very important to us as a school and is high on our agenda. All our children have two hours PE a week and, where possible, we augment this with other activity both in and out of school hours.

"The challenge was attractive because it enables every child in the school to take part regardless of their skill level in sport. It is not a challenge that just celebrates sports people but is inclusive of all the children in the school.

"Winning the Fitter Schools Challenge helps us to further our healthy schools status and ensure that all children are actively involved in activity of a physical nature, seeing the benefits for themselves and being encouraged to strive for more in the future."

OAPs told to sort out tap repair

AN elderly couple living in sheltered accommodation have been left fuming after being told contractors are not permitted to repair a leaking tap at their bungalow.

changed now and Kier have actually been banned from helping out old age pensioners.

"I thought that now we had finally got a Conservative administration in things would actually get done in this town but it looks as though I was severely mistaken."

A council spokesman told the Star some minor repairs were not the authority's responsibility and said all tenants were made aware of this before they moved into their council properties.

"There are certain small repair jobs which are not the responsibility of the council as the landlord but are for the tenant to carry out," he said.

"These are made clear when a new tenancy is given and include items like the renewal of tap washers, fixing toilet seats, changing fuses and light bulbs, bleeding and venting radiators and repairing door handles.

"Every tenant is issued with information on repairs and what they are responsible for inside their home."

Derek (74) and Julie (64) Woolnough, of Greenhills, were told Kier Harlow had received instructions from Harlow Council which prohibited its workmen from carrying out certain maintenance tasks for pensioners.

The couple, who both suffer with severe arthritis, have been told they will have to fix the bathroom tap themselves, a job they claim is beyond their capabilities because of their debilitating medical condition.

"We're not plumbers, we're arthritic pensioners," said an angry Mrs Woolnough. "How can the council expect people like us to do our own maintenance work?"

"We've never had a problem before when we've needed someone round to fix something but it seems things have

Homes sales suffering in credit crunch

NEARLY one-third of properties for sale in Harlow have been on the market for more than six months – and some have been waiting for a buyer since the beginning of the year.

Figures collated by property website Globrix show that of the 439 homes on the books of local estate agents, some 29 per cent have been for sale since May or longer and six per cent since January.

Although Harlow fairs well in comparison to other areas where the housing market is at a standstill, estate agent Alan Howick, of Howick & Brooker, in Old Harlow, said the situation was having a knock-on effect on businesses in the town as agents throughout the area look to reduce their costs.

Harlow MP Bill Rammell said he would continue to press the Government to do everything possible to ensure first-time buyers were able to get on the housing ladder.

"The recent stamp duty freeze for all properties sold for under £175,000 was a radical measure which will go some way in relieving the pressure on the housing market, but it is clear that more work is needed," he added.

Conservative prospective Parliamentary candidate Robert Halfon said the "harsh climate" for selling houses in Harlow would bring real hardship for families.

Pond project volunteers wade in to help

A FLOOD defence turned rubbish dump in Harlow is being transformed into a beauty spot as part of a community project.

Over the years, the water feature in Sibneys Green has become a litter hotspot, clogging up the pond which is an overflow for the common and plays a vital role in stopping the area being flooded.

But now it is being given a facelift thanks to a group of volunteers led by Harlow councillor Lee Dangerfield.

The work is on schedule to be completed soon and Mr Dangerfield hopes schools will soon be able to use it as a place to go pond-dipping and for residents to enjoy.

"It has gone to wrack and ruin and we said we would try to get it back to its former glory," he said. "We have got help from Essex Police and Kier Harlow, and pupils from Stewards School have also come down to help out."

"We want it back as being a place of beauty and not just a part of flood defence."

Family target of 'vile' notes

A MAN who threw what a judge described as "vile" racist material into the garden of a woman with mixed-race children has been spared jail.

Reginald Glynn (49), of Felmongers, Harlow, pleaded guilty at Chelmsford Crown Court on Monday to two offences of racially aggravated harassment. He was given a three-month prison sentence suspended for one year.

Prosecutor Stephanie Farrimond said the victim, Samantha Hatcher, lived in Felmongers with three mixed-race children aged 11, 9 and six. On August 5 last year she was in her garden when a wheelie bin was thrown over the fence.

"She went into the alley and saw Glynn walking away and shouted: 'If you've got anything to say come and see me.' An hour later she saw the defendant throw an object into the garden and walk back to his garden laughing."

It was a piece of paper with messages including "Big fat white shark goes out to find black man to ride" and references to "black meat". Another was thrown the next day and she reported it to police.

Among the writing was the message: "We must secure exclusivity for our people and the future of our children."

When arrested, Glynn said: "I am a patriot, white English and proud of the fact."

Miss Farrimond said an investigation which caused an earlier hearing to be adjourned showed there had been no previous reports to police from either side about the other.

Grahame James, representing Glynn, said in mitigation other residents also had problems with the family who had now "moved on".

Passing sentencing Glynn, Judge David Turner said: "You behaved disgracefully and inexcusably. There is no possible excuse for passing vile notes."

Glynn was also ordered to pay £290 costs.

Dedication of fire service pair wins deputy's plaudits

DANIEL BYATT

TWO firefighters with 40 years of service between them have been presented with awards.

Watch manager Daniel Byatt, of Harlow Community Command, and leading Harlow firefighter Trevor Oliver were among 13 members of Essex County Fire and Rescue Service to be presented with long service and good conduct medals by the High Sheriff of Essex, Sarah Courage, at a ceremony last Wednesday.

Deputy chief fire officer Mark Jones said: "Officers like Daniel and Trevor are the backbone of the service. They serve with pride and dedication.

"They have given 20 years of exemplary service to the communities of Essex and in that time have developed a wealth of knowledge and experience which they can bring to bear in protecting and serving those communities.

"This medal recognises their achievement and is presented by us on behalf of the Monarch and a grateful community."

TREVOR OLIVER

Auction site a bid of all right

By LOUISE SASSOON, News Editor
sassoonl@hertsessexnews.co.uk

CHARITIES are reaping the rewards of an online celebrity auction site created by a Harlow entrepreneur.

Steve Howell is selling items from household names and A-list stars including David Beckham and EastEnders stalwart Barbara Windsor to raise cash for good causes.

Mr Howell (31) has already raised a lot of money for various good causes as 90 per cent of the proceeds from every sale is donated to the celebrities' affiliated charities, including Whizz-Kidz, Richard House Children's Hospice and six others.

Everything for sale on the website – Celeb2nds.com – is authenticated. Mr Howell has signed football boots from David Beckham and Thierry Henry as well as an array of musical memorabilia.

He has already given one lucky person the chance to have lunch with TV chef Gordon Ramsey and another the chance to sample life as a Formula 1 racing team member.

"It has really taken off and we have had a lot of interest from celebrities and their affiliated charities so we are really pleased," he told the Star.

"We have a Bollywood experience coming up in which someone has the chance to win a walk-on part in a Bollywood film and we have now got contacts with Hollywood. We are trying to get a walk-on part in CSI plus items from the original Star Wars cast signed."

Mr Howell got the idea for the site after a flurry of successful charity advertising campaigns by his other company, Madison Bell Media.

Keen to explore new ways of helping, he came up with the idea of Celeb2nds.com.

"It is great to give something back," he said. "I have been in media and marketing for 10 years and it is nice to think you are helping contribute to the good work these fantastic charities are doing."

"Every charity can benefit, whether local or international, as the site is an international platform."

Support the Royal British Legion Poppy Appeal

THE Royal British Legion is the UK's leading charity providing financial, social and emotional support to millions who have served or are currently serving in the Armed Forces and their dependants. Today, British men and women continue to serve their country in Iraq, the Falklands, the Gulf, Rwanda, Bosnia, Kosovo, Northern Ireland and Afghanistan. They need to know that The Royal British Legion will be there to help them when they need it most. The Royal British Legion helps people of all ages and backgrounds. To be eligible for our help, you must have served in the Forces for at least seven days, or be the dependant of someone who has served. It really is that simple. Thanks to our supporters, we are able to provide a wide range of essential services, including:

Poppy Funds: We can provide funds in a temporary crisis, such as homelessness, or assist with loans for property repairs and starting up a small business.

Poppy Advice: We can offer advice on war pensions, compensation claims and also give careers advice for those leaving the Forces.

Poppy homes: A major part of our welfare work is to provide short and long-term care for ex-service people and their dependants in our seven Poppy Homes around the country.

We are indebted to the advertisers on this page: 20 per cent of the revenue from these advertisements has been donated to the Poppy Appeal (Registered charity number 219279).

ROBERT (member 991), of Burnett Park, Harlow, is 4. He enjoys kung fu and dressing up.

EVERY time your mum or dad has driven into a petrol station in recent weeks to fill up, the car the chances are you've heard them complaining about the high cost of fuel.

More and more people are worried about the world's oil supplies running out and lots of alternative sources of energy are now being investigated.

Scientists are now recommending the creation of seaweed and algae farms in Scotland so they can conduct research into the most energy-rich types of seaweed.

Science and research manager Professor Mike Cowling said: "Given Scotland's rugged western coastline, island groups and relatively clean seas, it is sensible to examine the farming of seaweeds and sustainable harvesting of natural supplies as a source of energy to heat our homes and fuel our vehicles."

It is thought that extracting energy from seaweed is a particularly efficient and reliable method. In addition, growing seaweed could have positive impact on local marine environment.

One aspect of farming seaweed which strongly appeals to scientists is that it doesn't have many of the same needs as growing biofuels on dry land such as requiring a lot of fresh water and taking up land which could be used to grow food.

Is this fuel for the future?

Not only that, but some seaweeds make a healthy and tasty snack once they've been cleaned and dried!

ARTHUR EDWARD BRIDGE

19.11.28 to 30.10.2008

PEGGY CLIFTON NANNY PEG

We thought of you yesterday, we thought about you today, and we will tomorrow and every other day. You was a nan who did not seem your age. Walking, running, jumping and always laughing. You touched the hearts of everyone you met and your smile will never fade. A second will not pass without a thought of you.

Lots and lots of love, always and forever, Leah, Lenny and Sadie. xxx

PEGGY CLIFTON 'MUM'

Peacefully passed away on 24th October 2008 after a long battle so bravely fought against cancer.

Our hearts are broken and we miss you so much already. We will never forget you. We love you (sweet dreams mum) Love, Justin, Debbie, Leah, Lenny and Sadie.

Good luck to Harlow Town in the first round of the FA Cup this weekend at Barrows Farm stadium, built as part of the Harlow Gateway Project

NEW HOMES FOR HARLOW PEOPLE

Fifty five new homes have been allocated to people from Harlow's Housing Register as part of the Harlow Gateway development at Fifth Avenue.

The homes are a mix of one and two bedroom flats and two and three bedroom houses for rent and low cost ownership.

Another 40 homes, developed as part of English Partnership's First Time Buyers Initiative are going to local people as well.

"While there was no obligation for English Partnerships to allocate these units to local people, they have chosen to do so, and all of them were allocated to people living or working in the Harlow area," said a Gateway spokesperson.

Altogether 159 homes on the Fifth Avenue site are being set aside for Harlow people who want to rent or buy, in a special agreement forged as part of the Harlow Gateway project.

The 27-acre site is being developed by Barratt Homes, in stages. The first phase to be completed was on the site of the former ski slope.

The homes for rent are being built throughout the project and allocated by Social Registered Landlord, Swan Housing, an approved partner of Harlow Council. Those on the Housing Register who want to buy their own home are helped, through the low cost home-ownership homes, to enter into a shared ownership arrangement.

"There has been much rumour and speculation that these low cost homes are being let or sold to people who have no connection to Harlow. But we can state quite clearly that they are only going to people on Harlow's Housing Register who either live or work in the town," said a Harlow Gateway spokesperson. A further 20 one and two bedroom flats for rent are due to be handed over by January 2009.

Athletics are on track for 2012

Young Olympic hopefuls have been making good use of Harlow's new athletics track at Mark Hall Community School & Sports College. Developed as part of the £50m Harlow Gateway Project, this brand new eight lane, county standard track is available for use by all schools in Harlow and the community generally.

As the base for Harlow Athletics Club, the new facilities will enable the club to grow, and develop athletes, coaches and officials for the future.

At the same time Harlow's new community sports and leisure centre – Leisurezone – has been earmarked as a training facility for Olympians and Paralympians in the run up to the 2012 Olympics in London.

With top notch facilities planned at the new centre being built on Second Avenue, and easy transport links into East London the team looking for suitable training camps was impressed with Harlow.

It means elite athletes from all over the world could be coming to the town in the weeks before the 2012 olympics to carry out vital, last minute training.

Leisurezone - a centre for everyone

Harlow's new community leisure centre – Leisurezone – set to open next year, is bringing bigger and better sporting, leisure and lifestyle opportunities for the people of Harlow.

Currently under construction off Second Avenue, the centre is part of the £50m Harlow Gateway project – a ground-breaking scheme to provide much needed housing – and to regenerate the town's leisure facilities.

Work on the state-of-the-art centre is progressing well and when complete it will not only feature larger, high quality facilities but is also set to become a venue for major events in the South East.

When the current sportcentre was built in the 60s it was one of the best in the country. Over the years the well-used facilities have become jaded, but the opening of Leisurezone should put Harlow back in the running as one of the best sport and leisure facilities in the region.

Leisurezone will feature a gym with 130 pieces of equipment, separate free weights room and a fitness and spinning studio, all benefiting from the latest in air-conditioning technology. There will also be an indoor tennis centre, eight lane swimming pool with a separate learner training pool and gallery for 300 spectators and Science Alive's interactive science centre. "We expect Leisurezone to become a relaxing place where people can meet for a coffee or lunch and where friends can have a well-earned drink after completing their workouts," said Emma Sproat, Marketing Manager for Harlow Sportcentre.

In the market for look at town's art heritage

AS the annual spend-a-thon that is the run-up Christmas lumbers into view, Harlow is hosting a different kind of event to highlight the town's cultural and creative energies, past and present.

Part of the Essex-wide Genius Loci programme, Art And The New Town combines art, film and discussion and features a temporary art gallery in Market Square with five free exhibitions from today (Thursday) until December 22.

Free arts activities and public panel discussions focusing on art and the new town are also being held, specifically in relation to Harlow and the proposed Market Square redevelopment.

Art And The New Town is being jointly staged by Essex County Council, Harlow Council, Harlow Renaissance and Commissions East to give an opportunity for reflection on the town's history and its future, as well as involving artists in planning and design initiatives.

The various events are the brainchild of artist Roman Vasseur, who was appointed last October as lead artist for Harlow over a two-year period. His commissioned projects seek to both celebrate and question New Town heritage by unearthing some mythologies about the future.

"Harlow occupies a very special place in the British imagination," he said. "It was an inspiring project for artists at its birth and continues to inspire and fascinate artists now. We hope that the projects will engage audiences and convey this fascination, demonstrating along the way how art might continue to be at the heart of Harlow as it matures into an old New Town".

Getting to grips in a ring of fire

ARE you ready to rumble? Tough guys in tights took time out of their rehearsals for Wrestlefest XI - Thunderslam to put local youngsters through their paces.

All the favourite characters return to battle it out once more in the final Wrestlefest of the year, at The Playhouse on Saturday at 8pm.

Charlie Rage, now the undead Wraith-like 'Rage', returns to take his final revenge on Paul 'The Assassin' Tyrell, whilst PJ's creation Tiny Iron could finally have met his match in the form of the newly revived Domino, now fighting for Steve Hannam.

Crazy characters, hardcore fight action, dancing girls and clowns - it's all part of the Wrestlefest experience!

Tickets are £12 from (01279) 431945.

A night of Mozart by candlelight

HARLOW Chorus is serving up a feast of Mozart by candlelight in Coggeshall's beautiful St Peter ad Vincula Church on Saturday at 7.30pm.

The main work of the evening is the composer's stunning Requiem, completed after his death by a former student, Franz Süssmayr. The Solemn Vespers were written by an unhappy Mozart, who had returned to his role of court organist having lost both his mother and his fiancée. However, the music is anything but depressing and includes the famous Laudate Dominum, a soaring soprano solo with choral accompaniment.

The choir will also sing the rarely heard Te Deum, which mirrors Gregorian chanting and has a different feel from the other pieces chosen for the evening.

The choir is joined by the Chameleon Arts Orchestra, and the strings will also perform the Divertimento in F, a rich and full score.

Performing with the chorus are talented young Cambridge soloists Ruth Jenkins (soprano), Simon Wall (tenor), Lucy Goddard (alto) and Gareth John (bass).

Tickets are £18 (£13 concs, £6 restricted view) from www.harlowchorus.org.uk or (01277) 362440.

Brit comic is out of his depth as romantic lead

RICKY Gervais graduates to Hollywood leading man in Ghost Town, David Koepp's supernatural comedy about a curmudgeon who discovers he can see dead people on the streets of Manhattan.

Unfortunately, the award-winning star of The Office and Extras simply doesn't have the charisma to carry an entire film, falling back on his usual repertoire of comic tics and mumbled asides.

During a routine colonoscopy, middle-aged British dentist Bertram Pincus (Gervais) reacts badly to the anaesthetic. His heart stops beating, but thankfully the hospital staff revive him – only he wakes up to discover he can now see and hear the spirits of the recently departed, all of whom are stuck in limbo.

Tormented by one particular soul, Frank Herlihy (Greg Kinnear), Bertram agrees to speak to the dead man's widow Gwen (Tea Leoni) in the hope it will facilitate Frank's transition to the other side.

Instead, Bertram unexpectedly feels an emotional connection to Gwen and has to wrestle with a growing attraction.

Ghost Town could have been a quirky and charming romantic comedy with a different leading man.

Regrettably, with Gervais on board, the project becomes a limp one-man show.

GAVIN O'Connor directs this gritty New York-set crime thriller.

When four boys in blue are killed, Ray investigates and comes to the shocking conclusion that the culprits must have been cops. The trail of evidence leads to Ray's conniving brother-in-law Jimmy (Colin Farrell), who's stirring up trouble between rival drug dealers and allowing the criminals to eliminate the competition.

Unfortunately for the Tierneys, a witness escapes the melee and threatens to expose the whole sordid affair, plunging NYPD into a scandal.

JED Weintrob's gory thriller unfolds in eye-popping detail as it invites audiences to witness carnage in blood-drenched 3D.

Sixteen years ago, Joan Burrows (Angela Bettis) became one of the victims of a sadistic undertaker who terrorised teens in the small Colorado town of Ovid, abducting and torturing them to death. She escaped and killed him, ending his reign of terror. Still haunted by her experience, she reluctantly returns to town to visit her niece Olympia – just in time for new series of killings to target Olympia and her friends.

Jonathan Ross/Russell Brand debacle.

Some of the material was so new that at times he had to stop and refer to written notes, but this was only a minor irritation in an otherwise faultless set which was well-received by the audience.

IT was standing room only at The Square's comedy night on Sunday when Omid Djalili took to the stage in front of a capacity audience.

The British-Iranian chose the venue to test some new material written for his next BBC1 show and despite the short notice – his appearance was only confirmed three days before – word spread quickly and the evening was a sellout.

Sandwiched between opening act Kevin Precious and headliner Sol Bernstein, Djalili looked at ease in the intimate setting as he fired off jokes on subjects as diverse as suicide bombers, his fondness for the Nigerian accent and the Agent 007 returns, all guns blazing, in the action-packed follow-up to Casino Royale, set in the immediate aftermath of the blockbusting 2006 film. It pales next to its predecessor, lacking a compelling lead villain or coherent storyline. Daniel Craig's lead performance is cold and aloof; his Bond is in danger of severing all ties to everything that made us fall in love with the super-spy back in 1962.

HIGH SCHOOL MUSICAL 3: SENIOR YEAR

The ultra-perky Disney Channel phenomenon takes a bow on the big screen for the first time, inducing the same sort of high-pitched hysteria in young fans as the glory days of Westlife and Take That. Boyishly-cute leading man Zac Efron is the star attraction of this feel-good fantasy, alongside real-life girlfriend Vanessa Hudgens, as the movie bids a tearful farewell to most of the actors who have made the series a toe-tapping success.

SAW V Diabolical killer Jigsaw (Tobin Bell) concludes his bloodthirsty reign of terror – from beyond the grave – in the final instalment of the horror franchise, full of more devilish booby traps and gruesome deaths worthy of an 18 certificate. As with the previous editions, nothing is quite what it seems and somebody has a final ace up their sleeve to ensure Saw V ends with an almighty bang.

IGOR John Cusack's loveable hunchback has ambitions to step out from the shadow of his evil mad master (John Cleese) and become a scientist in his own right, much to the displeasure of the science community in this average animated comedy.

KUNG FU PANDA Jack Black voices a panda who must change his slovenly ways to master a martial art and save his village from an evil ninja.

DEAD SET

(4DVD, 18, retail)

It's eviction night at the Big Brother house and the legions of blank-eyed zombies who've turned out are about to wind up on the menu of the real thing.

Taking its cues from 28 Days Later and the 2004 Dawn Of The Dead, Guardian TV writer Charlie Brooker's five-part E4 horror show is less concerned with firing sarcastic barbs into the dismal phenomena of reality television (although he does take some deliciously mordant swipes) than it is with crafting a tense, graphically violent zombie mini-epic.

Production runner Kelly (Jaime Winstone) provides a running narrative focus as news reports of random chaos spill over from the monitors to batter bloody fists on the security gates outside the studio and the plight of the squabbling housemates under siege from the resurrected hungry dead is intercut with the efforts of her boyfriend to get to her through the abruptly nightmarish landscape.

Andy Nyman is superb as producer Patrick, his foul-mouthed, contemptuous tirades against all who work for, participate in and watch the show only growing in vehemence as the horrific crisis drives him from his mind. Several real BB contestants show up as themselves and it's great that host Davina McCall was prepared to join in to such a gutsy extreme.

With sharp writing and a pace crackling with tension, Brooker also achieves the unthinkable by inciting concern for his mostly unlikeable but credibly drawn characters, even as his turbo-charged cadavers cut a gory swathe through the queasy laughs and slick-palmed tension to make for one of the most intense, ambitious small screen horrors in years.

THE HAPPENING

(20th Century Fox Home Entertainment, 15, retail & rental)

I suspect a lot of movie fans were a bit quick to hail M Night Shyamalan as a cinematic second coming (although it's an opinion the director seems to share) after The Sixth Sense, felt growing frustration at the muddled self-indulgence of his subsequent projects and then laid in wait with whetted blades for The Happening the come along.

But while his ecological chiller is certainly addle-brained and flawed, it's by no means the unmitigated disaster its opening notices suggested.

Opening with an eerie series of mass suicides (construction workers stepping off a skyscraper like a ballet of lemmings is particularly effective) in New York, feuding couple Mark Wahlberg and Zooey Deschanel head into the country with others to escape what is at first thought to be a biological terrorist attack but later appears to be nature revolting against mankind's sloppy stewardship of the planet. A lot more violent than Shyamalan's other films, this veers wildly between effective shocks and unintended hilarity (running away from the wind, indeed!), almost but not quite scuppered by stars who look perpetually dazed, the director's blunt preaching and a rather limp ending.

Star rating: ★★

BLACK GOD WHITE DEVIL

(Mr Bong Films, 18, retail)

Hailed as a masterpiece of Brazilian cinema, Glauber

Rocha's 1964 film is both a compelling piece of agit-prop and a startlingly cruel existentialist western set in the last gasp of rural banditry.

Killing the boss who's ripped him off, impoverished cowhand Manuel and his wife Rosa flee through the arid, pitiless landscape and fall in with an apocalyptic, self-styled living saint who preaches a confrontational Old Testament message and, in a hard scene to stomach, practices human sacrifice.

Fleeing during a raid by enigmatic hired gun Antônio das Mortes, the couple cross the path of vicious bandit Corisco and are sucked into his pointless blood feud with the rest of the world.

The haunting black and white photography evokes a dreamlike landscape in which blood-spattered gunmen declaim religio-psychological justifications for being trapped in cycles of macho violence, women are either sidelined or objectified and most characters function as metaphors with which to hammer the inherent violence and corruption of both church and state. Quietly fascinating.

Star rating: ★★★

THE TEXAS CHAINSAW MASSACRE: 3 DISC SERIOUSLY ULTIMATE EDITION

(Second Sight, 18, retail)

Arriving in a smart steelbook, this package more than fulfils its claim to be the 'seriously ultimate edition' of one of the most influential scare flicks ever made.

Director Tobe Hooper's 1974 tale of five young friends falling foul of a depraved cannibal clan in the sweat-soaked Texas hinterlands has lost none of its grueling power and looks great in this print remastered from a hi-def transfer.

And if there's anything you want to know about the film that's not among the mountain of extras, odds are that it's either not worth knowing or you should go lie down in a cool dark room for a while.

Carried over from earlier releases are a commentary with Hooper and actor Gunnar 'Leatherface' Hansen, The Shocking Truth documentary, cast and crew interviews, trailers, promotional spots, outtakes, deleted scenes and bloopers.

New to this package is a commentary with scream queen star Marilyn Burns and others, Off The Hook (an interview with actress Teri McMinn), an interview with production manager Ron Bozman, Hansen touring the set and the featurette Flesh Wounds.

If there's a Texas Chainsaw Massacre-shaped hole in your collection, there's really no better way to fill it.

Star rating: ★★★★★

THE DESIGNATED VICTIM

(Shameless Screen Entertainment, 18, retail)

With its restrained tone, an emphasis on atmosphere and a tense, homoerotic dynamic between its leading males, Maurizio Lucidi's Italian riff on Strangers On A Train is quite a different beast to most giallo thrillers.

Opening in a richly atmospheric Venice, Stefano (Tomas Milian) is trapped in a spiteful marriage to a wealthy woman until an apparently chance meeting with the fey Matteo (Pierre Clémenti) leads to a most indecent proposition from the latter – he's tormented by a sadistic brother, so why not swap crimes and murder each other's problem?

Stefano laughs it off as the pair grow closer, until his wife is found murdered and he becomes the most likely suspect ... while the pressure grows on him to fulfil his end of the criss-cross, willingly or otherwise.

The psychological tussle between the two men dominates and is effectively teased out through various gambits, and Shameless deserves a major pat on the back for the work it's put into preparing this 'rebuild edit' fan edition of a long-overlooked title, culling missing material from a variety of sources and adding a text commentary by participating fan Stefan Novak, deleted scenes, an art gallery and trailers.

Get your brand closer to people's lives

No other medium is as close to people's hearts as Regional Press. Consumers consider it an integral part of their community. The effectiveness of regional press advertising in driving sales comes down to the simple fact that people prefer to do most of their spending close to where they live.

Consumers' Choice V, a national consumer survey by TNS Media, found that regional press advertising is the most frequently acted upon, with 61% of people responding to it¹.

No wonder brands enjoy a closer relationship with consumers when advertised in this, the most trusted and effective medium of all.

Write a new page in Scholastic's successSchool Sales Representatives

Competitive salary • Home based • 35 hours, permanent • Term-time only Midlands, Essex, Kent, Sussex/Surrey, Hertfordshire

At Scholastic UK, we're one of the best known and fastest growing primary education publishers in the country, the UK's largest schools book fair operator and the biggest children's specialist bookseller in the UK and Ireland.

We are passionate about our products and now we're looking for the right talent to drive our success forward. We are looking for a team of Sales Representatives to visit schools and promote Scholastic teacher resources and magazines within their sales territories.
You will be the first point of contact for school staff, building and maintaining customer relationships. Therefore you will need to be an excellent communicator with outstanding presentation and demonstration skills. You'll also need to effectively manage a busy schedule in order to meet sales targets. A sound knowledge of Microsoft packages and an understanding of the education system would be advantageous.

Due to the nature of this role, a full driving licence and flexibility in working hours are essential.

Please send your CV and covering letter to: Irene Molina, Scholastic Ltd, Villiers House,

The Leventhorpe SchoolTeacher of Mathematics

Required for January 2009, enthusiastic graduate committed to the highest academic standards to teach Maths. Part-time or Full time applicants will be considered.

The Leventhorpe School is an excellent, over-subscribed 11-18 school which places a strong emphasis on academic achievement. The Sunday Times ranks the school in the top 200 nationally for GCSE and A level results. We have also been designated as a high performing specialist school. We seek to recruit staff supportive of our traditional standards of discipline and behaviour who are also keen to introduce innovation and creativity into the classroom. The Leventhorpe School specialises in Business, Enterprise, Mathematics and ICT.

The department has a very strong tradition of delivering excellent mathematics teaching with 91% of students gaining GCSE grade C or better. This is largely based on the experience and enthusiasm of the teaching team and is complemented by creative curriculum delivery.

The successful candidate will be expected to teach pupils of all ages and abilities. At sixth form level, flexibility between Pure Mathematics and Applications would be an advantage. A Level Mathematics attracts large numbers of students - currently about 90 study in the sixth form. Familiarity with the use of ICT within mathematics is desirable.

This is a superb opportunity for an NQT or more experienced teacher to join a well resourced, forward thinking and supportive faculty. Professional development is encouraged at all levels throughout the school.

Further details may be obtained by phone, post, e-mail or from our website - telephone enquiries and informal visits welcome. Applications by letter to the Headteacher, Mr Jonathan Locke, as soon as possible. Please include C.V with two referees.

For a better quality of life

HELP ESSEX LEAD THE WAY

Colchester, Broomfield, St. Johns, Princess Alexandra, Southend and Basildon Hospitals

Here in Essex, we're transforming the way we deliver care services.

Giving our service users greater freedom, choice and control over the kind of support
they receive, Self-Directed Support (SDS) is a completely new way of working. And our Hospital Assessment Teams are making it possible.

Many Essex service users and carers come to us through our hospital teams, which makes these teams a vital link to the services we provide. They are often faced with changes to their lifestyle and need help and support to understand what this means to them and how Essex County Council can help.

If you are the sort of person who likes to be there for people when they need you the most, to help them through a difficult and often traumatic time in their life and set them on the road to recovery, you should join one of our hospital teams.

You will work in a fast-paced environment, where no two days are the same.

You will be the face of Essex County Council, promoting personalisation, independence, choice and control. In return, we offer a number of employee benefits including a rota attracting a 6% FRA and a market supplement of up to £4,850 (Senior Practitioners and Practitioners only).

We're currently looking for all of the following specialists:

- Senior Practitioners (Social Worker/OT)
(Ref. SDS002Eo)
- Practitioners (Social Worker/OT)
(Ref. SDS003Eo)
- Facilitators (Ref. SDS004Eo)
- Business Administrators (Ref. SDS005Eo)
- Bank of Temporary Staff (Ref. SDS006Eo)

For more about us, the roles and how to apply, please visit www.essexworksofchange.co.uk Alternatively, call 0844 892 0992 for an application pack, quoting the appropriate job reference number.

Due to continued expansion, Photonic Products Ltd, (part of the StockerYale group), has vacancies for a Product Development Manager and an Internal Sales Person based at our UK Headquarters, Hatfield Broad Oak, near Bishops Cleeve, Hertfordshire.

Photonic Products Ltd specialises in the distribution of high performance laser diodes and the custom design and manufacture of optoelectronic components based on semiconductor laser diode technology.

The following positions offer a competitive salary and benefits package.

PRODUCT DEVELOPMENT MANAGER

Reporting to the Managing Director, you will take overall responsibility for the Product Development Team, liaising with technical sales and the production department.

Your responsibilities will include, but not be limited to; analysing product or equipment specifications and performance requirements to determine designs, determining the feasibility of introducing new products as well as producing and maintaining project plans. Providing leadership for the project team and key interfaces to the project. Co-ordinating resources and tasks with other functions and departments. Overseeing the setting up and handover of new products to production.

The ability to lead and motivate teams and communicate at all levels within a business are pre-requisites, as is creating a continuous improvement environment.

Qualified to at least HND/HNC level in Engineering or equivalent experience, the suitable candidate will be able to make an immediate and significant contribution to the further growth of the company.

Prior knowledge or experience with laser products would be beneficial but is not required.

INTERNAL SALES PERSON

The Company needs an enthusiastic and motivated individual to join our sales team. Responsibilities will include providing support to the sales team, responding to e-mail and telephone enquiries, sending and progressing quotations, providing customer support, and proactively contacting prospective customers.

A good team player with a lively personality, flexible approach and the ability to work on your own initiative, you will be comfortable dealing with customers from the UK, Europe and the US, generating sales in a diverse range of markets including Medical, Industrial, Construction and Automotive. It would be an advantage to have had previous sales experience and, whilst technical knowledge is not essential, the ability to learn and understand technical issues is required. Good general computer skills are a prerequisite and some knowledge of Microsoft Office would be beneficial.

The suitable candidate will be able to make an immediate and significant contribution to the further growth of the company.

Essex County Council

(THE GREEN, THEYDON BOIS)
(TEMPORARY PROHIBITION OF TRAFFIC) ORDER 2008

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the Essex County Council has made the above Order under Section 14(1) of the Road Traffic Regulation Act 1984. EFFECT OF THE ORDER: To temporarily close the following lengths of The Green, Theydon Bois, in the District of Epping Forest:

(i) From its junction with Poplar Row to its junction with Woburn Avenue.
(ii) From its junction with Woburn Avenue, northwest, for a distance of approximately 40 metres.

The closure is scheduled to commence on 10 November 2008 for 15 days between the hours of 08:00 and 17:00 weather permitting, or when appropriate signs are showing, and is required for the safety of the public and workforce while kerbs are installed.

The alternative route will be via Poplar Row, Loughton Lane, Hornbeam Road, Woburn Avenue and vice versa.
Access for Emergency Vehicles and to property will be maintained all times during the closures.

The Order will come into effect on 10 November 2008 and may continue in force for 18 months or until the works have been completed, whichever is the earlier.

(FIRST AVENUE (WESTBOUND), HARLOW) (BUS LANE)
(PART 1) ORDER 2008

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the Essex County Council has made the above Order previously advertised as The Essex County Council (First Avenue (Westbound), Harlow) (Bus Lane) Order 200* under Sections 1(1), 2(1) to (3), 3(2) and Part III to Schedule 9 of the Road Traffic Regulation Act 1984.

EFFECT OF THE ORDER: To introduce a Bus Lane for the use of buses, coaches, taxis and pedal cycles on the First Avenue in the District of Harlow as specified:

Road	Distance/Location
First Avenue	The bus lane will start 10 metres west of the centreline of School Lane give way line, running westbound along First Avenue, terminating 85 metres of the centreline of Velizy Avenue give way line.

DATE OF OPERATION: The Order will come into operation on 10 November 2008 or when the necessary signing is completed whichever is the later.

FURTHER DETAILS: A copy of the Order and plans may be examined during normal office hours at County Hall, Chelmsford CM1 1LX.

APPLICATION TO THE HIGH COURT: Anyone who wishes to question the validity of the Order of any provision contained in it on the grounds that it is not within the powers conferred by the Road Traffic Regulation Act 1984 or on the grounds that any requirement of the Act, or any instrument made under it, has not been complied with in relation to the Order, may within six weeks from the date of the making of the Order apply to the High Court for this purpose.

Kirby: 'We can cause upset'

Kirby is hoping that his side will draw inspiration from when his team beat AFC Wimbledon 2-1 to ensure they were not relegated at the end of last season.

That was played in front of a crowd of more than 3,000.

He said: "The likes of James Bunn, James Hasell and Beckett Hollenbach love a big game and they did well that day when we needed a result.

"Our fans have been fantastic and I'm looking forward to hearing the noise they make."

Although Harlow's form has been good, Kirby has cited an area that the team have been working on in training this week. "Our delivery into the box has been too long and that needs to be good," he said.

Striker Jamie Richards is suspended after picking up a fifth booking of the season during the 3-0 win at Burgess Hill Town in the previous round 12 days ago.

Tashan Adeyinka will link up with Bunn up front while Danny Chapman will return to central defence. He missed Saturday's 3-0 win over Canvey Island game due to illness.

Utility player Michael Gliddon is doubtful with a groin problem while full-back Harrison Tague is set to be on the bench, as is 16-year-old central defender Jack Lampe.

Second choice keeper Jason Hardy is troubled by a sore elbow and if he is not fit veteran goalkeeping coach Steve Wallduck will be on the bench. Utility player Clark Akers will miss out as he continues his loan spell at Cheshunt.

Macc boss says: 'We can't win'

"At this moment in time Harlow have as good a chance of any of beating us as we have of beating them. We are not scoring much and have lost three on the trot."

Alexander cited his own experience of FA Cup upsets and has had Harlow watched. He also knows the Hawks will be motivated.

"I was manager at Ilkeston when we beat Carlisle and we then took Scunthorpe to a replay," he said.

"I was at Lincoln [as a player] when Stafford beat them in the FA Cup. I have had Harlow watched [against Burgess Hill and Canvey Island] and know they are a good side."

He added: "Harlow players have absolutely nothing to lose and will be up for it. They may have been pro players and one or two may want to break into the pro game. I do know it's going to be a difficult game." The Silkmen will be without striker Gareth Evans and left-back James Jennings who are suspended.

Macclesfield are also set to include former Bishop's Stortford FC player Ahmed Deen, who has been struggling with injury.

Coach Niaz slams players' commitment

HAWKS player-boss Shab Niaz has criticised his squad for their lack of commitment this season.

Speaking after his side's 64-71 home defeat to Stevenage Gators in division one of the Herts County Basketball League on Friday, Niaz said: "Unlike last season we are lacking the hunger and willingness to work hard to succeed.

"Teams will not allow us to walk in and roll them over this year."

Hawks started well with some excellent shooting from Mike Freeman before Gators had a 10-0 run to establish a lead.

But Harlow fought back and at the end of the first quarter the match was tied 21-21 before a 13-4 run by Gators in the second quarter played a big part in them leading 41-32 at the halfway stage.

Gators extended their lead to 16 points in the third quarter but the Hawks fought back well.

The visitors only trailed 53-48 at the start of the last quarter but Gators stretched their lead to 11 points and Harlow simply could not make up this deficit.

Harlow Hawks: Jessop (22 pts), Freeman (13), Niaz (12), Haddow (10), Sharma (3), Allan (3), Jones (1), Burgess, Collier, Moss.

Harlow Tn 3, Canvey I 0
(Ryman League, premier div)

THIS Essex derby turned into a farce but the Hawks showed maturity as they closed out a win over a seven-man Canvey Island side at a wet Barrows Farm on Saturday.

Canvey had Jon Curran and Chris Moore sent off on 15 and 60 minutes respectively.

The visitors ended with seven players after Leon Gordon and Jon Edwards went off injured and all three substitutes had been used.

Danny Chapman's illness meant a first Ryman premier start for 16-year-old centre-half Jack Lampe.

Harlow's James Bunn had a goal ruled out in the first minute for an offside against Tashan Adeyinka.

Canvey's Curran then received a red card when he kicked at and raised an arm to Mark Taylor.

But the visitors almost went ahead on 35 minutes. Harlow keeper James Hasell brilliantly tipped a Chris Moore header round a post.

Adeyinka finally put

HOT SHOT: Tashan Adeyinka goes for goal against Canvey Island on Saturday (DSRPZVW-10)

Harlow ahead a minute after the break. He chested a ball down and beat keeper Mel Capleton from 15 yards.

Jordan Fowler and Beckett Hollenbach forced saves from Capleton before Hasell stopped a header from ex-Hawks striker Gabriel Faniyuban.

Harlow doubled the advantage on the hour mark when Bunn was fouled in the box by Moore as he shot at Capleton. Moore, booked in the first half, was shown a second yellow card and dismissed before Taylor converted the spot-kick.

Hawks player-boss Ryan Kirby said: "So often these [penalties] are not given because the player has got a shot off, despite being fouled, but this one was."

Danny Green's shot hit a Canvey post before Capleton went off injured. He was replaced by Ricky Wiseman who was lobbed by Bunn for the final goal on 82 minutes.

HARLOW TN: Hasell 8, Taylor 7, Hollenbach 6, Lampe 6 (Llewellyn 70), Kear 7, Kirby 7 (Bruno 85), Lalite 6, Fowler 6, Adeyinka 7 (Charles 80), Bunn 8, Green 6. Subs not used: Query, Sargent. Yellow cards: Fowler, Adeyinka. Att: 285.

Loss leaves Rams in bottom three

Romford & Gidea Park 17, Harlow 0

(RFU London League, division three north east)

AN inability to create too many chances proved the Rams' undoing as they slipped to defeat in wet conditions at Romford.

A below-strength Harlow side fought hard to stay in contention on Saturday but the home team just had the edge and the Rams are now 10th in the 12-team table.

Romford exerted pressure in the first 15 minutes but Harlow came into it more and James McFerran went close with a penalty.

Two minutes later, the hosts went ahead. A gap was found, and skipper John Davies nipped through for a try converted by Dave Gilmore.

Romford extended their lead to 10-0 with a Gilmore penalty five minutes after the break.

With just two minutes to go the Romford loose head prop Jay Cater used his weight to crash over for the game's second try. This was converted by Gilmore.

The Rams are away to Enfield Ignatians in the league in two days' time.

HARLOW: Mackie, Vanbeck, Morgan, Stradling (Woodington 56), Grimley, McFerran, Fitzpatrick, McKinley, Wilkins, Webb (Branch 32), Hawkins, Paine, Bowering (Roberts 60), Covington, Eynon.

● UPPER Clapton went down to a narrow 7-5 defeat at home to third from bottom Old Brentwoods in Essex division one on Saturday.

It was the Thornwood Common side's sixth successive defeat. They are second from bottom on points difference ahead of Writtle, who are also pointless.

Colts bounce back with big victory

THE Young Rams bounced back from their Essex County Cup defeat to beat Sudbury Colts 26-7 at the weekend.

Winger Joe Heeney rounded off a flowing backs move for the first try. Terry Blackwell kicked the conversion.

Blackwell scored Harlow's second try and added a third try in the second half, plus a conversion.

Inside-centre Dan Hockley scored the fourth try which Blackwell converted.

Harlow U-17s beat Stanford-le-Hope 57-12. The try scorers were Keiran Gleeson and Alfie Elston (three each), Danny Smith (2) and Charlie Coleman. Smith was successful with six conversions.

Other results:- Datchworth U-14s 27, Harlow U-14s 28; Harlow U-11s 35, Braintree U-11s 14.

Whites go second

WITH the help of a 180 by Steve Salter, CC Whites pushed themselves into second place with a 9-0 win against FC Wonders in the Harlow & District Premier Darts League.

Ian Mappley and Andy Booths 180s helped White Admiral to a 6-3 win against CC Colts with Servo Hawks scraping a 5-4 win against CC Foxes.

Moot Arrows came away from UG Social with an 8-1 victory. John Crowley notched his second 180 of the season for Moot.

Young Pretender were just pipped 5-4 at home by Stow Snooker Club.

Elsewhere, Moot House were awarded nine points when Golden Swifts were unable to field a team.

FA Cup coverage

DUE to the FA Cup coverage this week some reports have been reduced or run in their entirety on our website.

Log on to www.harlowstar.co.uk for more comprehensive reports plus the rest of the result and the coming weekend's sporting action.

If your report did not go in this week we would like to apologise.

Football results:- Essex Senior League - Romford 3, Sawbridgeworth Tn 0.

Essex Olympian League Senior Division Cup 2nd rnd: Epping 1 (Chris Muir), Herongate Ath 0; M & B Club 3, Potter Street 1 (Michael Kennedy).

Defeat for Harlow

HARLOW made it one win in six league matches when they slipped to a 3-2 home defeat at the hands of University of Essex in division three south east of the East Men's Hockey League.

The Passmores School-based team lie 10th in the 12-team division.

Hawks have chance to make history

HAWKS fans have waited a long time to reach the promised land of the first round of the FA Cup - and now Harlow Town have a great chance to go even further.

League Two Macclesfield Town have had a difficult season so far and Ryan Kirby's men have nothing to lose and everything to gain.

If Harlow play to their full potential and get that little bit of luck there is no reason why they cannot go further in this historic competition.

They have a goalkeeper in James Hasell who has been in excellent form this campaign.

In front of him, teenager Paul Kear has belied his tender years with a series of outstanding displays at the heart of the defence.

Admittedly, the loss of suspended front-man Jamie Richards is a huge blow.

He has been a revelation in attack for the Hawks this term after his summer move from East Thurrock. But in James Bunn, Harlow have the man who can fire the bullets and send the Hawks through.

The 30-year-old has an exceptional goalkeeping record at Non-League level ever since his days in the Conference with Enfield and he must use all his tactical nous to unlock the Silkmen's defence.

And if any free-kicks come Harlow's way, right-back Mark Taylor has shown what a danger he is with his quality set-pieces. Macclesfield will be well aware of his threat.

Undoubtedly the key role could well go to the player-boss himself.

Since moving into midfield, Ryan Kirby has been immense at shielding the defence.

This Cup run has been a real shot on the arm both off and on the pitch.

The cash - £27,500 and rising - has made a big hole in the club's debt.

It has also given the opportunity for Harlow's younger players to pick up valuable experience which will hold them in good stead for the rest of their careers.

More importantly it is a reward for the army of fans who light up Harlow's matches every week with their enthusiasm and good humour. Barrows Farm will be rocking.

The games against Aveley, St Albans and Crowborough had that incredible atmosphere which is unique to the FA Cup.

This is the chance that comes along once every generation.

History is within their grasp - and now the team must take it with both hands.

Come on you Hawks!
